ENTERTAINMENTS.

Grand Opera House.

A large audience witnessed the performance of "Faust" yesterday afternoon and evening. Mr. Joseph Callahan is a young, ambitious actor, and has already done himself credit. Audiences have applauded him in performances in which a better-known actor was billed as Mephisto. For many years Mr. Callahan was Lewis Morrison's understudy, in which capacity he sustained the former's reputation upon many occasions. His voice is fully as deep as Morrison's; his facial expressions are largely the same, and his gestures are quite equal to those of the familiar star.

The audience last evening certainly appreciated his work, for after the first act he was called before the curtain. The spectacular Mephisto is by reason of merit Mr. Callahan's lineal legacy. Miss Leah Starr is a pretty, guileless and affectionate Marguerite. In the prison scene, in the concluding act, her interpretation was highly effective. Mr. Callahan's support throughout is competent, and should lead him on to protrated successes.

The scenery and electrical effects are all most impressive. Especially is this so in the Broken scene. Mr. Callahan makes a special effort in this powerful portrayal and the result is an eminently satisfactory performance.

There will be a special of matinee today and the regular performance this evening.

Poll's Wonderful Theater.

A great bill is again presented at the Wonderful. Mr. Linn and Miss Vani, who head the bill, give a novel combination song and dance and gymnastic specialty, in the latter part of which they perform some sensational acrobatic and athletic feats while robed in full evening dress. The Kins-Ners also introduce a startling novelty in equilibrium, notably when towards the end of the act Mr. Kins-Ners, taking a huge wheel that came from one of Smedley's big trucks and weighs 180 pounds, puts it on his chin and balances it with the greatest of ease. Mr. Vernon and Miss Hawthorne, Miss Ida Howell, Swift and Chase, Burt Jordan, the Misses Rice and Halvers, Hyams and Collier, and George C. Davis also contribute with splendid specialties to make a delightfully pleasing bill.

PROTEST AGAINST POOL LAW

Passed at a Meeting of Methodist Ministers in Meriden.

Meriden, June 4.—The New Haven District Ministerial association met at the First Methodist church to-day, Rev. C. J. North, presiding elder of the district, conducted the devotional exercises. W. H. Kidd as secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. Appointment of committees on nomination of officers for the ensuing year was made. The following committee, Rev. William Farr of New Haven, D. N. Griffin of New Haven and Rev. T. E. Townsend of Waterbury, presented the following petition, which was unanimously adopted and forwarded to the general assembly:

Whereas, We members of the New Haven District Ministerial association of the Methodist Episcopal church, representing eighty churches in the state of Connecticut, with a membership of about 15,000 members and a constituency of at least three times as many, have learned of the proposed amendment legalizing the selling of pools at horse-races during certain periods of the year, thus making legal at a given time what under all other circumstances is a criminal act and a disgrace to the good name of the state; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby enter our earnest protest against the proposed legislation, and petition your honorable

RESTING THE STOMACH.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IN THE DOMAIN OF PHYSIOLOGY.

A New Way of Treating Dyspepsia.

We are all familiar with artificial teeth and artificial limbs, and very useful they are. Science now comes forward with an artificial stomach, and while the discovery may not be of importance to those of us who enjoy perfect health, it will prove a greater blessing to dyspeptics and to those pale, thin sufferers who eke out a miserable existence, than an artificial leg to the cripple.

When this new food, Paskola, was first introduced it excited a great deal of favorable comment; so much so, in fact, that its manufacturers finally decided to bring it to the attention of the medical profession. The result is that since January 1st they have received over 500 testimonials from doctors alone. Their opinion of Paskola may be summed up as follows:

First, it affords more prompt relief in dyspepsia than any of the familiar remedies. Second, it is a most efficient flesh producer. Third, it is vastly superior to cod liver oil in the treatment of consumption or other wasting diseases. Fourth, it is absolutely harmless even in those cases which are beyond the power of any one has yet been able to trace the slightest disagreeable after-effects to its use.

As doctors are every day giving their endorsement to new products, we may believe that Paskola must be possessed of unusual value to call forth flattering testimonials from so large a number.

Paskola is not alone an artificially digested food, but contains, as it does, principles which are essential to the digestion of other foods. It rapidly aids the work of the entire stomach, and stimulates the appetite and sense of well being frequently, of the first dose.

It is the Digested Food Co., of 30 Beards street, New York, will be very glad to mail their pamphlet to any one on application.

body, in the interest of good government, good morals and the general welfare of our commonwealth, to prevent the passage of this bill.

Passed by unanimous vote to session at Meriden this 4th day of June, 1895.

W. H. KIDD, Secretary.

Rev. W. H. Barton presented a review of Austin Phelps' "Theory of Preaching," which was followed by discussion. Adjourned at 12:05 to partake of lunch prepared by the Young People's society of the church. This was served in the parlors of the church, the tables tastefully arranged and decorated with flowers.

At the afternoon session the principal event was the debate on the question: "Resolved, That Christians cannot consistently support political parties which permit the licensing of the liquor traffic." William McNicholl, H. L. Glover, affirmative; F. A. Scofield, E. A. Dent, negative. The debate was thrown open to general discussion. A large number of ministers from various parts of the district were in attendance.

Rev. John M. Dick is preparing to conduct this summer a Connecticut division of his summer camp for boys at Camp Idlewild. The Connecticut division will camp on the shores of Congamung lakes for two weeks in July.
